

Memories of the Second World War from the Royal Collection

- Photograph shows: King George VI, Queen Elizabeth, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, November 1943 (RCIN 2315121)
- This simple resource is designed to evoke memories, and start conversations, about life in the Royal Borough of Windsor and Maidenhead during the Second World War.
- All photographs are taken from the Royal Collection – one of the most important art collections in the world. Collected over the centuries by past kings and queens it is now held in trust, for the nation, by The Queen.
- To find out more about each photograph use the given RCIN number to search the Collection Online at www.rct.uk

Memories of the Second World War from the Royal Collection – Evacuees

- Photograph shows: Princess Elizabeth's first broadcast during a 'Children's Hour' programme, 12 October 1940 (RCIN 2002152)
- Berkshire was categorised as an Evacuee 'reception' area due to its rural nature. In the first wave of evacuations, in 1939, the administrative area of Berkshire County Council received 23,915 children.
- Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret spent most of the war years at Windsor Castle, apart from their parents.
- The photograph shows 14-year-old Princess Elizabeth's first broadcast – a message to evacuees as part of the Children's Hour radio programme.

Conversation starters:

- Were you evacuated during the war, or did any evacuee children come to your town or village?

Memories of the Second World War from the Royal Collection – the Guards

- Photograph shows: Princess Elizabeth on an inspection of Grenadier Guards, 21 April 1942 (RCIN 2304473.1)
- On her 16th birthday, 21 April 1942, Princess Elizabeth was appointed Colonel of the Regiment of the Grenadier Guards. This inspection was the Princess's first official public engagement.
- The Grenadier Guards are one of the five footguards regiments of the Household Division. The other four being the Coldstream, Scots, Irish and Welsh Guards.
- There are two mounted regiments, forming the Household Cavalry – the Life Guards and the Blues and Royals.
- During the Second World War the Victoria Barracks housed the various Footguards Regiments of the Household Division, whilst Combermere was home to the Household Cavalry.

Conversation starters:

- Do you or your family have any connections to the Guards?

Memories of the Second World War from the Royal Collection – VE Day

- Photograph shows: King George VI and family during VE Day, Tuesday May 8th, 1945 (detail), (RCIN 2108359)
- In her memories of VE Day, when she was 19 years old, The Queen recalled:

'it was one of the most memorable nights of my life...I remember lines of unknown people linking arms and walking down Whitehall, all of us just swept along on a tide of happiness and relief.'

- In her VE Day message, broadcast from Windsor Castle in 2020, 75 years after her father's radio broadcast, The Queen said,

'Never give up, never despair – that was the message of VE Day'

Conversation starters:

- Crowds formed outside Buckingham Palace on VE day as the Royal Family and the Prime Minister appeared on the balcony – where did you gather and how did you celebrate?

